ROUSTAH works closely with the National Rural Health Students' Network (NRHSN) which represents Rural Health Clubs (RHCs) like ours around Australia and shares our goal of aiming to increase the health workforce and health outcomes for rural and remote Australians. The NRHSN is operated as part of Rural Health Workforce Australia (RHWA). We may share your personal information with the NRHSN from time to time for purposes including:

- the administration of rural health scholarships, prizes and conferences;
- the communication between ROUSTAH members and ROUSTAH's events and activities;
- the maintenance of a National Membership Database for RHCs accessible by the NRHSN, Government bodies and health organisations and ROUSTAH (for its members);
- the operation of an Alumni program to facilitate networking between former members of RHCs after they finish their degrees; and
- the production of aggregated statistics and reports which will not identify individual members.
